

A case of multiple arrhythmias caused by PCI(Percutaneous coronary intervention)

Xin Shao<sup>1</sup>, Haixiong Wang<sup>2</sup>, and Xuebin Han<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup>Shanxi Cardiovascular Hospital

<sup>2</sup>Affiliation not available

March 07, 2024

Abstract

PCI(Percutaneous coronary intervention) may lead to the occlusion of the artery of sinoatrial node, and it is rare that the occlusion of the sinoatrial node artery simultaneously causes sick sinus syndrome and atrial tachycardia. A clinical case has been encountered and the report is as follows.

Hosted file

Case Report-Xin Shao.doc available at <https://authorea.com/users/729164/articles/709765-a-case-of-multiple-arrhythmias-caused-by-pci-percutaneous-coronary-intervention>