

Figure 3: Qualitative summary of how hydrologic processes affect oxygen and hydrogen isotopic composition of rainwater. Pairs of  $\delta^{18}\text{O}$  and  $\delta^2\text{H}$  can be distributed along with the entire possible variation range, according to the depletion or enrichment of observations and the meteorological conditions of the atmospheric moisture sources.